

XMR01 series milling tools

The feature of high feed tool is to resolve the major cutting force to the axial direction, greatly reduce the radial cutting force, thus improve tool's capability of shock resistance. In addition, this structure can effectively reduce the vibration in long overhang milling application.

